Dr. Buchanan remarks, that this event affords an invaluable lesson concerning.the character of the Hindoos and the facility of civilising them. What was effected in Guzerat, continues that benevolent writer, in regard to the murder of children, is equally practicable in Bengal, as to the burning of women, and at Juggernaut, as to self-murder.under Molochis tower. We would ask, what is there to prevent the custom of burning women alive, from being discussed in the public culchery of Calcutta, and exposing the enormity of the practice, as contrary to the precepts of religion and the dictates of nature? The English nation have a right to demand an answer to this question from the supreme government of Bengal. Abhorrent to natural feeling as the destruction of female infants may appear, it is certain that it is only the extreme degree of a principle common to all nations of the earth where Christianity is not known, --namely, a disposition to degrade the female character. Christianity alone ever did, Christianity alone ever can give due honour to the character of woman, and exalt her to her just place in the creation of God. MORALS AND LAWS, PENAL AND CIVIL. In all the books of the Hindoos we meet with the maxims of that pure and sound morality, which is founded on the nature of man considered as a rational and social being-. The laws themselves inculcate the doctrine of future...
